

ABSTRACT

The invention relates generally to photolithographic techniques, and particularly, but not by way of limitation, to a method for preventing the collapse of the image pattern during the stage of drying the image. The invention also relates to structures fabricated using the inventive method.